Roslindale Village

Roslindale was annexed to Boston in 1873 as one of the city's emerging streetcar suburbs. Surrounding the beautifully landscaped Adams Park, Roslindale Village offers visitors and residents a casual and diverse shopping experience. Arrive by foot, car, bus or commuter rail – just 12 minutes from downtown Boston!

Gourmet restaurants, tree-shaded parks and a diverse mix of shops make this neighborhood a hidden gem. Bring your shopping list to the district's delightful stores where you'll find fine clothing, jewelry, books, unique home furnishings, and an art gallery. The district boasts numerous bakeries offering a wide variety of breads, pastries, cakes and ethnic specialty items. End your day of shopping at one of the district's trendy restaurants. Visit www.roslindale.net to find out more.

Dining & Foods

Restaurants and bakeries including Chinese, Greek, Italian, Japanese, Mexican, Thai, Spanish, classic American, pizza and subs, and coffee shops. Plus a variety of markets offer imported goods, such as Mediterrenean specialties.

Directions

By MBTA: Orange Line to Forest Hills Station. Take #34, 35, 36, or 37 bus to Roslindale Village. By Commuter Rail, take the Needham Line from Back Bay Station to Roslindale Village.

By Car: From downtown, take Storrow Drive to the Fenway exit. Follow the Jamaicaway to the Arborway, exit at Forest Hills. Turn right on Washington Street, follow straight into Roslindale Village

Photo by Ellie Keenan.

Sights to See

Adams Park

Named after Irving W. Adams, the first man from Massachusetts killed in action during World War I, Adams Park is used year round for picnics, festivals, holiday events and summer concerts.

Arnold Arboretum

Established in 1872 and maintained by Harvard University, this 265-acre park contains a collection of 15,000 plant species. The Arboretum's pathways are a great place to walk or run.

Roslindale Branch Library

Designed by Isadora Richmond and Carney Goldberg in 1961, this branch of the Boston Public Library features dramatically curved walls and expanses of plate glass windows.

Roslindale Congregational Church

James Murray built this historic shingle-style church in 1896.

