CITY OF BOSTON • MASSACHUSETTS

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
THOMAS M. MENINO

Summer 2007

Dear Friends,

Once again, I am proud to present the New Bostonians' Community Resource Directory - 4th Edition - for 2007. Published and distributed by the Office of New Bostonians, this directory connects Boston's immigrant and refugee communities to the many community-based organizations, government agencies, and service providers that operate programs tailored to the needs of new Bostonians.

The spectrum of service providers and community-based organizations that are listed in this directory include listings for services and advocacy for immigrants, ethnic media outlets, arts and cultural immigrants groups, foreign consulates based in the City of Boston, in addition to many other relevant programs.

Diversity is one of the City of Boston's greatest strengths. The Office of New Bostonians, under the leadership of Reverend Cheng Imm Tan, has undertaken a significant role in reaching out to our immigrant communities. I am extremely proud of the accomplishments that the ONB has made in past years, especially in its efforts to establish strong, collaborative partnerships with diverse communities, and in providing quality services to our newcomers.

This 4th Edition of the New Bostonians' Community Resource Directory will continue to be a great tool to assist new Bostonians in connecting with the community resources they need, and I encourage you to reap the benefits of having this vital information at your fingertips.

Best wishes for a fun and safe summer!

Sincerely,

Thomas M. Menino
Mayor of Boston

2006 Annual Report

Mayor's Office of New Bostonians (MONB)

Mission

To strengthen the ability of residents from diverse cultural and linguistic communities to play an active role in the economic, civic, social, and cultural life of the City of Boston, and to promote the commemoration and public understanding of the contributions of immigrants.

We are working to:

- To strengthen the relationship between diverse cultural and linguistic communities and the city by improving the ability of these communities to access city services.
- To assist the city to reach and serve diverse cultural and linguistic communities and create a model of a welcoming multicultural city.
- To assist diverse cultural and linguistic communities in understanding how city government works and how to participate in it.
- To promote leadership development and community building in diverse cultural and linguistic communities.
- To strengthen the ability of diverse cultural and linguistic communities to participate fully in the economic life of Boston.
- To target attention and resources to particularly vulnerable groups including women and children, youth and the elderly.

New MONB initiatives in 2006:

We Are Boston

On October 10th 2006, Mayor Thomas M. Menino, the Mayor's Office of New Bostonians (MONB), hosted the first "We Are Boston: 2006" event with over 60 community partners at the Boston Convention Center. Over 800 guests attended and Senator Edward Kennedy was honored with the 2006 New Bostonians Leadership Award in recognition for his tireless and inspiring leadership on immigrants' rights.

The event embraced the city's rich diversity, affirmed its immigrant heritage, and celebrated the achievements of new Bostonians. New and old Bostonians alike came together to recognize the remarkable contributions that immigrants have made and the diverse talents that became integral to the fabric of our city.

This unique event can be summed up in the words of Senator Edward Kennedy:

"You could travel across this nation and you will not find in any city in the country the kind of dinner that we are having this evening that celebrates the diversity and bring people together, proud of their heritage, proud of their background and making this the most vibrant city in the area."

Translation, Interpretation and Customer Service Policy (TIC)

As a member of the Diversity in City Government Team, MONB organized a committee to develop Boston's first Translation, Interpretation and Customer Service Policy (TIC). Currently, despite the changing demographics in the City, there is no citywide policy/guideline that guides city departments in the provision of interpretation services and translated materials. Thus, the Committee, representing the City's largest departments, was brought together to develop the TIC policy this summer. The first draft has been completed and will be presented to the Mayor. The Policy will be implemented in 2007.

The New Bostonians Summit

In order to address the three key issues (lack of ESOL, jobs, education) identified by the new Bostonians communities through a community survey this summer, MONB is bringing together businesses, funders, immigrant leaders, city officials, universities and mainstream leaders working on these three key issues to develop effective strategic action plans to move the issues forward for new Bostonians. Involving these 6 sectors together is both innovative and effective as it will increase awareness on these concerns and develop resources that new Bostonians have been struggling with in isolation. MONB has received funding for the Summit, scheduled for early Summer 2008.

Neighborhood Orientation Programs

As a way to increase outreach to large numbers of new Bostonians and to assist new Bostonians to connect with City and community resources, MONB is piloting neighborhood orientation programs in the diverse neighborhoods around the City. The first pilot took place at the East Boston Social Center in East Boston in November with participation from over 20 community-based organizations. The next pilot will be held in Allston Brighton.

New Bostonians Guide to Boston

MONB is in the process of finalizing the New Bostonians Guide to Boston. This guide will provide new immigrants to the area with extensive information and community resources to help them better integrate into the life of the City.

Accomplishments: Ongoing MONB Programs

English for New Bostonians (ENB)

ENB I (2001-2005) served over 700 students with English literacy annually and awarded 32 grants with a total of approximately $2.5 millions to ESOL providers. With the commitment of the Mayor and ENB's major funders, ENB II is continuing its mission for another three years (2005-08), with a budget of over $1.2 million funding 22 ESOL programs in Boston. The new goals are to:

1. Provide access to ESOL classes for a minimum of 1,000 immigrants annually
2. Provide capacity-building assistance to 6 to 10 organizations that provide services to the underserved
3. Launch a technology-based pilot model that has the potential to significantly increase the overall impact of Boston's ESOL system
4. Launch workplace ESOL classes, with the participation of 5 to 6 local employers and serve 125 students
5. Advocate for increased state, federal and alternative sources of funding to support and sustain ESOL services through a public education and advocacy campaign.

New Bostonians Community Day

The 7th Annual New Bostonian Community Day (NBCD) took place on September 20 at Boston City Hall. The event featured multicultural performances and over 90 community organizations and city departments participated. There were free immigration consultations and multilingual tours of the City Hall were conducted to familiarize community members with the building and the services.

Immigration Clinics

Over 300 people receive free immigration consultation every year through this biweekly program. Constituents meet with our volunteer immigration attorneys in confidence regarding their immigration concerns. In addition, if an individual needs further legal assistance after the initial consultation, the volunteer attorneys will provide a 15%-30%_discount based on the person's income. The free consultations are held at Boston City Hall every first and third Wednesday of the month from 12PM to 2:30 PM.

Interpreter Equipment

The Simultaneous Interpreter Equipment proves to be very valuable and effective tool in facilitating City departments' communication with the diverse linguistic communities. Each year, approximately 800-1000 individuals benefit from its usage. The equipment is also available, free of charge, to community-based organizations that need interpretation at meetings, activities and other events. Since its implementation, this system has been used on a regular basis by departments within Boston City Hall and on the average, lend to over 50 community-based organizations in Boston annually. The Interpreter Equipment has been used to interpret essential information to the Haitian, Chinese, Russian, and Latino communities.

Voter Registration

MONB continues to have a presence in the citizenship swearing ceremonies to welcome new Bostonians into American citizenship. After the ceremonies, the new citizens are invited to register to vote and to fully take advantage of the services the city of Boston has to offer. A total of 216 individuals were registered this past year.

Demographic Report:

In collaboration with the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA), MONB updated the demographic report that gives Bostonians a better sense of the diverse immigrant communities in Boston. Based on data from various sources, including the U.S. 2000 Census, this report includes information regarding the immigrant population in Boston, their ethnic distribution, languages spoken, economic standing, and educational level. Additionally, the report highlights the rapidly changing demographics of Boston and the social, economic, cultural and political impacts that immigrant communities have upon the City. Made available through the MONB website, this report has proved to be a valuable resource on the diverse demographics of the City.

Boston's Immigrant Population is Growing

- Over the last couple of decades the share of Boston's foreign-born population has increased at a faster pace than Massachusetts and the U.S.
- In 1990, 114,597 immigrants accounted for 20% of the city's total population.
- In 2000, the foreign-born population in Boston was 151,836 accounting for 26% of the city's total population.
- Boston's foreign-born population come predominantly from the Americas, Asia, Europe, and Africa and represented more than 100 different countries.
- Caribbean immigrants make up 59% of all immigrants from the Americas.
- Haitian immigrants make up the largest share of Boston's immigrants.
- Latinos (14.4%), Asians (7.5%), African Americans (23.8%) together with other minorities make up 50.5 percent of the city's total population.
- Since 1990, the Latino population has increased by 37.3% and the Asian population by 46.7%.

Immigrants are Significant Economic Contributors

- Immigrants in Boston spend, from their after tax earnings, just over $3 billion annually. These annual expenditures generate a regional product of $2.8 billion in local expending and $823 million in State and Federal taxes.
- Annual expenditures generate 25,350 additional jobs in the local economy.
- Immigrants further contribute to Boston's economy through entrepreneurship.
- They own more than 8,000 small businesses in the greater Boston area in different industry sectors.
- Combined, these businesses represent more than $5.5 billion in annual sales and employ nearly 37,000 people.
- They contribute about $9.5 billion to the regional product, $304 million in State and Federal taxes and they create an additional 35,368 jobs.

Immigrants are Critical Contributors to the Labor Force

- Between 1990 and 2001, new immigrants made up more than half of the growth of the nation's entire civilian workforce.
- Immigrants filled both the high and low ends of the market statewide: high-skill jobs in engineering, information technology, and the sciences; and low-skill jobs in manufacturing and service.
- From 2000 to 2004, MA remained dependent on the immigrant labor force. Without immigrants, the state's labor force would have shrunk. By 2004, immigrants accounted for 17% of the state's workforce, a sharp increase from 1980 when immigrants were only at 8.8%.
- Immigrants will be critical to filling future labor gaps. It is the fact that 76 million baby boomers will retire by 2030, while only 46 million native-born workers will have entered the workforce.

DESCRIPTION: Urban Edge’s mission is to help develop and sustain stable, healthy and diverse communities. The organization concentrates its efforts on preserving and creating affordable housing, providing homeownership and financial fitness training and counseling, developing commercial and economic opportunities, community organizing, promoting resident leadership, and providing high quality property management. To support economic growth in Roxbury, Jamaica Plain and surrounding neighborhoods, Urban Edge develops commercial property, provides technical business assistance, and offers loans and equity investment to small and mid-sized local businesses, targeting minority-owned businesses. Urban Edge is one of the strongest and most experienced CDCs in Boston, with a solid track record of success. Throughout its 33-year history, Urban Edge’s work has contributed to the creation and preservation of affordable housing in the Egleston-Jackson area, which now has over fifty percent more affordable housing than the Boston citywide average.

POLICY ADVOCACY:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Urban Edge’s leadership in this array of policy areas qualifies it to formally reposition itself as an implementer of City-wide and regional solutions. Urban Edge’s policy activities have always been and will continue to be oriented to results and outcomes that serve our community. In the 1970s, fighting redlining, promoting school integration and stopping a highway that would destroy neighborhoods led to Urban Edge’s intervention in the housing development arena. Advocacy in the 1990s for banks and financial institutions to invest in Boston neighborhoods led to increased presence of banks in the neighborhoods of their depositors and borrowers and siting of branches in places like Egleston Square where none had ever existed before. The same advocacy also led to the creation of important financial intermediaries such as Mass. Housing Investment Corp. (MHIC) that have provided substantial capital to Boston and Massachusetts CDCs and other developers. Presently, Urban Edge’s public policy work is to advocate the use of Smart Growth

	tools that impacts housing affordability, access to new jobs, economic and ethnic segregation, education and workforce development, municipal tax rates and finance, transit and transportation systems, land use and conservation, and air and water quality. Continuous advocacy for resources for and production and preservation of affordable housing has made Boston one the most livable and welcoming cities in the country, thanks in large measure to the community-building work of CDCs.
