N.B.: The column titled "Ownership" refers to the fee simple owner of the property; the column titled "OS Ownership/Jurisdiction" refers to either the ownership of the open space rights to the property or to the agency with jurisdiction to manage the property as an open space; and the column titled "OS Management" refers to the entity which manages a property for open space purposes or uses. No entry in "OS Management" after an entry in either "Ownership" or "OS Ownership" means that the entity in "OS Ownership/Jurisdiction" (or in "Ownership" if there is no entry in "OS Ownership/Jurisdiction") is responsible for open space management of the property. Example: Some parcels in Allandale Woods are owned in fee simple by a private owner, but the open space rights are held by the Boston Conservation Commission; however, the manager of these parcels for open space purposes or uses is the Boston Parks Department via its Urban Wilds Initiative.
