Summer Day Camps and Programs

Boston Centers for Youth & Families (BCYF,) the City of Boston's largest youth and human service agency, offers over 50 neighborhood-based summer day camps and programs for Boston's young people. These programs aren't only a lot of fun, they also keep children's minds and bodies active over the summer months so they are prepared for the return to school in the fall. Each community center offers its unique approach to "ACES—Arts, Character, Education & Sports" programming and you should contact the center directly for specifics, but some of the activities you can expect your child to participate in include arts and crafts, recreation, health and fitness, field trips, special events, educational programs, dance, theatre, neighborhood exploration and cultural activities. A few offer day drop-in programs for older children. Many of the summer programs provide meals and accept vouchers or offer a sliding payment scale.

Space is limited at each center and they fill up fast. See the list of centers on the previous page for addresses and phone numbers. And remember that you'll need to provide up-to-date physical examination and immunization records for your child. All camps comply with regulations of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health and are licensed by the local board of health.

TEEN PROGRAMS

This summer BCYF will offer several employment and skill-development programs for teens, including:

Snap Shot - Snap Shot introduces teens to photography and trains them to serve as part of the Snap Shot youth photographer corps. Teens photograph BCYF programs and events across the City and their work will be used in BCYF publications and exhibited at events. Participants receive a stipend for their efforts.

FACTS - Fourteen-Year Olds Acquiring Confidence, Training & Skills gives 14 year-olds who are too old for summer camps and too young for summer jobs the chance to serve as "counselors-in-training" within community center programs in exchange for a stipend. FACTS prepares 14 year-olds for future employment through hands-on experience at community centers, assisting with summer programs, events and camps for their younger peers.

Girls Leadership Corps - GLC engages girls as peer leaders to develop and support programming for girls at BCYF centers, lead community service initiatives and recruit their peers. GLC members also assist with citywide events such as Girls Night Out and the annual Citywide Girls Summit.

Recreation, Sports and Fitness Programs
